Prology

"Welcome old friend," said a Tom with stars in his pelt, a brown she-cat and a brown tabby Tom padded out of the trees.
"You called us?" Asked the she-cat.
"In deed I have, but I am here to deliver a prophecy," said the Tom.
"And what is that?" Asked the she-cat.
"A kit with a past like no other and a mother of death shall be the saviour of the clan," said the starry Tom.
"What does that mean?" Asked the she-cat.
"A kit will be found not born now go," said the Tom before disappearing.

Chapter 1

I woke in a dark den, a few warm bodies around me which I thought to be my siblings, my mother was beside us asleep. My siblings were asleep as well, I got up and wobbled to the entrance.
"Where do you think your going?" My mother asked.
"Just outside mama," i said, I wobbled out to a big camp. I tripped over once when my dad came over, he was smiling and had fresh kill in his jaws.
"Hello Maplekit," he said with a smile, he ducked inside and came back out.
"Hi daddy!" I squeaked, he smiled and we went through camp to see the warriors. They all gathered to see me as I was the youngest of my siblings, they all were happy, I hid behind my dad who seemed to smile at me. I went behind the apprentices den where it was dark, I tripped over something that hissed at me. I ran out from my hiding place as it chased me, I fell over as it struck my shoulder. I couldn't move my legs at all, the snake was getting ready to attack when Bumbleleap dragged it and killed it. He took me straight to Watervole, she looked me over and gave me a nettle seed, I soon started to throw up when I was tired I fell asleep. I woke in a dark forest when a strange cat who looks like me came up to me, she looked at me and smiled.
A moon later.
"Hello Maplekit," she said.
"Hello," I said.
"You probably don't remember me my child but I am Mapleshade your true mother," said the she-cat.
"But Waterwish is my mama," I said confused.
"No your father dropped you in a river so I killed him but I now know you survived and I am going to raise you the way I want you," Mapleshade said laughing.
"B-but Bumbleleap is my daddy," I said.
"He is not but I am now going to go when you wake up act like we never met," Mapleshade said and I woke up. Bumbleleap looked relieved to see me awake, I looked away from him.
"Why did I not know?" I whispered.

"Not know what?" Asked Bumbleleap.
"That your not my real dad and Waterwish is not my real mum, and why is Mapleshade my real mum?" I said my voice growing louder, Bumbleleap looked surprised.
"Even I didn't know I was told you were born small," Bumbleleap said.
"You knew don't lie to me!" I almost yelled.
"We found you on a riverbank near our camp, you were almost dead so we thought that we should take you in," Bumbleleap said.
"I hate you," I said running out, I ran out the entrance and toward the lake, I got there and sat. I heard cats come by but I didn't care, I just kept quiet. Waterwish and Bumbleleap sat beside me, I didn't even look at them.
"Look we know your....." Bumbleleap said but I cut him off.
"I HATE BOTH OF YOU I DESERVE TO KNOW MY REAL PARENTS EVEN IF THEY ARE DEAD AND YOU LIEING TO ME MADE ME HATE YOU ALL THE MORE!" I spat.
"Look we just thought....." Waterwish said but again I cut her off.
"I DON'T CARE WHEN I CAN I WILL VISIT HER IN DREAMS AND I WILL BE TRAINED BY HER I HATE YOU!" I yowled and ran back to camp, I went into a seperate nest. I fell asleep but cared of nothing but meeting my real mother, she so far was the only one who understood me.

Chapter 2

I woke to see I was in the dark forest again, I was 5 moons old now and I had visited my mother every night, she had been training me and I saw joy in hurting things. She would teach me to be a warrior soon instead of child's play, I hoped I was doing the right thing, being a kit made me think things differently. Though somewhere inside I felt like I was doing wrong but my mother didn't appreciate this so every time I mentioned it I would be punished, I was growing tired of training and my mother sensed it.
"That is enough for today remember if a cat goes to kill you kill them first," she said. I nodded and awoke to the sound of waking cats, today I will be made an apprentice so I groomed myself clean of the dirty moss that needed to be cleaned. After I was groomed my mother had finished my half siblings, my mother was related to Waterwish so I had no care for them, I had been edgy lately so I was proven to be a pawful. I went outside as Thornstar called us, I sat down with no enthusiasm.
"All cats old enough to catch their own prey gather around to hear my words, we have three new apprentices with us today, Branchkit you will be known as Branchpaw your mentor shall be Soottail, she will train you to be a fine warrior, Birdkit you shall be known as Birdpaw your mentor shall be Greyfang, he will train you to be a fine hunter, Maplekit you shall be known as Maplepaw, your mentor shall be myself, I will teach you they ways of being a loyal warrior," Thornstar said his voice proud. The clan cheered but a voice in my head told me it would be time soon, I was very confused but my mentor inturupted my thoughts.
"Let's go see the territory," Thornstar said, I knew something he didn't and that was the fact that my mother wasn't Waterwish, although I would have told him might make him throw my thought to be mother out. We were walking when suddenly Thisledown burst from the bushes, she was out of breath and I knew something was wrong.
"What's wrong?" Questioned Thornstar.
"FuryClan have invaded our territory, they want to take our territory and chase us out we need everyone to help!" She almost screamed. We ran as fast as we could, we came to the fight and went straight in. I dodged left to right, I soon came to a halt as an ears plotting yowl came from one cat, I turned to see Thornstar on the ground his throat bleeding badly and Psychostar standing over him, I froze in place but rage soon took over me and I lunged at Psychostar was taken by surprise as I dug my teeth and claws into her throat, I Tor it to shreds. She was on the ground bleeding to death when I finished, the other cats looked stunned.

"Be this a warning not to mess with my clan!" I yowled, Furyclan retreated and Apoloclan gave cheers of joy, we were lucky that Thornstar had three lives left. I told him what happened and he was proud, we put Psychostars body on her territory so she could be berried there. We went back to camp, I had no clue I was hurt until a seering pain went through my chest. I looked to see my throat was bleeding but not enough to kill so I cleaned up and thought nothing of it, I went to my nest to recover from what I did, my chest hurt and soon the pain was too much that I was on my way to Watervoles den when I collapsed in pain. My vision blurred and I thought I would surely die, I woke in the dark forest scared I was dead until Mapleshade appeared.
"Have no fear you shall not die today and I will make sure of it," she said and I woke up. Thornstar was sitting next to me when I woke, his gaze was clouded and he was sad, I was very confused at why.
"Why are you sad?" I asked, he looked at me and his gaze filled with joy.
a"You were very close to death we thought you were on your way to starclan," Thornstar said his voice gone happy, my head started to hurt when I saw a vision.
"A kit with a past like no other and a murderous mother shall save the clan," the voice said, I shook my head and Thornstar looked at me.
"You heard it too didn't you?" Thornstar asked, I nodded sure of the fact we were talking about the same thing, he looked at the sky as a shooting star shot past. I went back to sleep, this time my mother did not interrupt.
Hey guys I wonder if you would like to leave suggestions I really need them.

Chapter 3

"FIGHT HARDER!" Mapleshade shouted, I fell over exhausted.
"But I am exhausted....." I said almost enable to move.
"I DON'T CARE YOU ARE MY DAUGHTER YOU WILL FIGHT EVEN WHEN YOU ARE TIRED!" Mapleshade howled scratching my ear, I winced at the pain and soon was on the ground again. Something in me snapped and I lunged for my mother, she sidestepped me and I hit a tree.
"W-why?" I said trying to get up.
"Go back and you better be ready for tomorrow night," Mapleshade spat, I woke in camp unawear of Branchpaw beside me, I walked out than decided to go hunting when Thornstar came up to me.
"You look tired if you are ok we can go hunting?" Thornstar asked.
"I am fine," I said, we left camp and headed to Adder rocks, we got there and I chased a mouse but fell over. I hissed in frustration, I than saw a snake but it just looked at me than my mothers voice sounded in my head.
"Get your head in the game or you will never become a warrior," she said than her voice faded and the snake went away, I went back to hunting and managed to catch three mice, we went back to camp and put the fresh kill on the pile when my exhaustion took its tole and I collapsed. I woke what seemed to be at moonrise, I felt better but I went back to sleep and woke in the dark forest,
"Don't forget tomorrow you have your final assessment before you become a warrior so I am going to leave you alone for now," Mapleshade said and I woke, today was another day.

Guys sorry for the short chapter I am sick right now so chapters may come out when I can get them out so please don't panic I should be ok but I have a lot of things to do especially with school and stuff so yeah.

Chapter 4

I woke to a bright day, today was my final assessment so I could become a warrior. If I passed I wouldn't have to do water duty and get water for the others, I was in the clearing when Thornstar came up to me.
"Let's get going," he said some worry in his voice.
"Why are you worried?" I asked.
"If you fail after all I taught you I will look stupid and the clan will think I am not a good enough leader," Thornstar said, we got to the spot where the others were waiting. Our mentors dismissed us and I ran towards the lake, I saw a squirrel and started to stalk it, it bolted up a frosted tree. I chased it and caught it, I dropped it to the ground when I heard a screech from above, I looked and saw an eagle. It swooped at me and my only escape was to jump, I jumped and mid air it caught me and I yowled, it was taking me higher when my mentor came out of the trees.
"HELP ME!" I yowled. He was chasing us, I could tell he wouldn't be able to save me but he wouldn't stop trying. The eagle took my above adder rocks when it dropped me, I yowled in fear and the thought of dieing came to mind. I hit the ground but not as hard as expected, it felt cushioned by something. I looked and saw my mother, her pelt was full of shadows and she put me down, Thornstar appeared and looked at her greatfully.
"Thank you for saving her," Thornstar said.
"I would save my daughter a million times before I let her die," Mapleshade said, Thornstar looked surprised.
"Your her mother?" He asked.
"Indeed I thought she died when my mate appledusk made me drop her in a river, I died trying to reunite with her and her siblings but it never happened so I will save her always now go before the eagle comes back," Mapleshade said fading, I went back to hunting than went back to camp, the claw marks on my back would stay there for life. That's night I didn't see my mother, only I had a peaceful night. I woke and Thornstar called a meeting.
"All cats old enough to catch their own prey gather around to hear my words, we have three new warriors with us today, Branchpaw, Birdpaw and Maplepaw do you promise to uphold the warrior code and protect this clan even at the cost of your own lives?" Thornstar said in a strong voice.

"I do," we said all at the same time.
"Than by the power of starclan I give you your warrior names, Branchpaw from this moment on you shall be known as Branchfang, Birdpaw from this moment on you shall be known as Birdeye, Maplepaw from this moment on you shall be known as Maplefeather, starclan honours you and accept you as warriors of this clan," Thornstar said with pride.
"Branchfang, Birdeye, Maplefeather!" The clan shouted. Thornstar dismissed the clan and I went to go hunting, I got to the lake where I spotted the eagle and it was there looking at me hungrily, since it was leafbear it would be very hungry. I waited and waited, it didn't move until started to move, it swooped and only just missed me when I bit down on its wings. It screeched and flew higher and higher until the camp was tiny, I knew that if I fell I would die for sure so I held on for my life, it sensed that I was terrified of falling so it swooped towards the ground, it made my claws slip as we got near the ground and everything went black as I felt the pain of hitting a tree and than the ground. I woke in the dark forest, my mother was there, she had a blue fire in her paw.
"I can give your life back my child only if you kill Waterwish," she said with an evil grin.
"Why?" I asked my voice filled with fear.
" because I want her dead so do it or else!" Mapleshade shouted and I woke up in lots of pain, I yowled for help but my body couldn't move at all, the eagle came back and stood in front of me, it heard something and flew away. I saw Thornstar standing there fear in his eyes, I looked and saw I was covered in blood and dirt, the blood was mine for sure and I looked at him.
"WATERVOLE COME IMEADIATLY!" He shouted, Watervole soon appeared with some herbs but she took one look at me and dropped them, she was stunned but got to work. The pain was bad but I lived, once the blood was cleaned from my pelt I saw I had many scars and a broken front paw.
"Thornstar she is bad but she will still be able to be a warrior just if she has kits she may die," Watervole said sadness in her eyes, Thornstar nodded and I got up and we went back to camp.

Chapter 5

Guys I am running out of idea's please leave some below in the comments.
It had been moons since my accident with the eagle and I was doing fine, I was going alone the cougarclan boarder when I ran into Redclaw, he looked at me and his eyes saddened, we had been meeting here for a few weeks now and we loved each other.
"Yes I know I didn't meet you last night but I was busy," I said.
"It's ok but I am sad because your leg is swollen you should be resting," Redclaw said.
"I know but my love is far greater than pain," I said, we curled around each other. We lay there for a while when we heard cats coming, I stood up and hid so did Redclaw, I saw it was Thornstar and Thistledown.
"She has been going missing every night and I find her scent here all the time," Thistledown said.
"Maybe because I come for walks down here to think where it's quiet," I said coming out of the bush.
"Hmph!" Thistledown hissed silently as if trying to get rid of me, Thornstar and Thisledown went back to camp and Redclaw came out of his bush.
"That was close and do you plan to tell me why you've gotten bigger?" Redclaw asked pointing to my stomach.
"I am expecting your kits Redclaw," I said, he was surprised.
"Who's kits do they think they are?" Redclaw asked.
"They think the kits father is Greyfangs he is not much older than me but he is the only cat I can trust right now other than you," I said.
"Well I hope one of them looks like me but thing is my clan has figured out I am seeing you and if I don't stop they will kick me out of my clan," Redclaw said.
"I am not meant to be out either due to the fact the kits are coming any day now so until next time Redclaw fare well," I said padding back to camp.
Guys sorry for the short chapter I am getting sicker and I will update at least a couple times a week when I can ok.

Chapter 6

I was laying in the nursery unable to sleep, I got up and decided to go for a walk down to the lake. I padded out of camp and into the forest, Spring was warm at night so I didn't have to worry about freezing but I felt as though it was going to snow. On the way to the lake I saw Redclaw, he was looking at the stars so I went up to him and sat beside him.
"Why are you here?" Redclaw asked.
"I needed some air," I said, a pang of guilt flooded through me. I knew he was mad at me for not telling him sooner but I had my doubts, my thoughts went back to when I first met Redclaw.
"Your quiet tonight oh and by the way I can't do this anymore I can't see you anymore or the clans and maybe even starclan shall hate me," Redclaw said his voice distant.
"If that's what you want," I said a slight hiss in my voice, I walked back towards camp. I got into my nest in the nursery when I knew it was time, my kits were coming and I was in too much pain to speak. I was lucky that starclan was on my side tonight and they sent Watervole a sign, she came running to help me but I felt my pain too much by than and I was bleeding lots. I yowled in pain and agony, I couldn't handle it and than everything went black after I heard little mews. I woke in the dark forest when suddenly Mapleshade hissed and scratched my shoulder.
"I help you and you can't survive kitting unbelievable!" Mapleshade spat.
"I tried I am sorry but I will follow you no longer!" I yowled, it took her by surprise and I woke in the nursery again, I felt as though I was about to join starclan. My head hurt and the pain was too much, Watervole looked at me with saddened eyes as I felt my life leave me, I opened them in fear when I closed them and I saw my kits and my body. I knew starclan would give my a chance with them but I wanted my kit, I closed my eyes and was in starclan. I saw my real siblings there too and my traitor of a dad who killed my siblings, I knew my life was over.
Guys I am going to talk in maplefeathers kit view ok this kit will be very special and this kit may have a powerful prophecy in her paws.

Chapter 7

I felt nothing but cold as a cat wailed beside me, I opened my eyes and saw my mother.
"Why is she sleeping?" I asked.
"She is in starclan young one she isn't coming back," the she-cat said, I started to wail but sneezed and wanted her to be here. Suddenly a Tom of strange red fur came in his eyes were sad, I looked like him oddly only I had a white paw. He went to a cats den and he and what I thought to be the leader talked when they looked at me, I felt weird when they came towards me.
"You say she is your kit for you betrayed the warrior code and had kits with Maplefeather my apprentice NOW SHE IS DEAD BECAUSE OF YOU!" The Tom spat, the red Tom looked sad and came towards me, he picked me up and I wailed.
"Put me down I am not leaving my mama!" I wailed, he put me down but looked towards my mama who was in starclan.
"Your name will be Featherkit," he said, I knew he called me that to remember my mother. He walked up to the leader and asked a question I never thought he would ask.
"May I join your clan?" Redclaw asked.
"You may but if you harm any of us you will be forced to leave," Thornstar said, I curled up next to my dad and fell asleep I knew I would starve if no she-cat could take care of me. I woke the next morning feeling hungry, I mewed in hunger when Watervole came in with a yucky herb. I chewed but almost spat it out, I knew if I wanted to grow stronge I had to eat it. I looked at the sky when a vision flashed into my mind, it had a cat who looked like me was wailing in pain standing next to a cat with the same pelt as me that I assumed was me but older was on the ground bleeding badly.
"She saved me but lost her life!" The cat wailed, I shook my head when Watervole put her tail on my shoulder.
"I saw a vision a cat that looked like my dad was wailing over a cat that looked like me and he said she saved me but lost her life, I find it confusing that the cat was like me," I said. Watervole nodded and went back to her den, Redclaw padded out and came over to me, he licked my ears and I attacked his tail. He pretended to be hurt and fake limped around, I squeaked in terror as something grabbed me, it's claws dug into my back and the ground gave way beneath me. I was in the air, I wailed in terror as it dropped me, Redclaw caught me, a strange cat tried to kill the eagle but the cat ended up like me in the claws of it, the cat was flown away to no one really knows but somewhere no cat would see it again. The Eagles claws hadn't dug into my back enough to make me bleed only leave small scratches, I wailed in pain as my back started to hurt. I looked and saw red feathered wings on my back, I spread them and the clan looked at me in terror, a starclan cat suddenly appeared.

"Do not fear she shall not hurt you only she has a prophecy over her head, she is a special cat," the starclan cat said.
"Go on," Thornstar said.
"A cat with wings that has a mother of half clan blood and a father of full will save the clans," the cat said disappearing, I was scared at the thought of me saving the clans. I looked at my new wings and spread them, I knew I was special but never wanted this. I knew the prophecy had something to do with my vision and my wings but what was the question?

Guys I am sorry but next week expect no chapters because I am really busy with school and doctors appointments because I am of course still sick so yeah please be weary of that and I apologise if I kinda left this on a cliff hanger and sorry for getting rid of Maplefeather I know she had a prophecy but don't spam my comments because incase no one knew Maplefeather killed psychostar when she was an apprentice, she also tried to kill her mother a few times so I am going to make a prophecy about the same thing in the future, please comment below what you think Featherkits vision and the prophecy mean and I will give a shout out next time I write to the first person with the closest answer. 😊

I was asleep in the nursery alone, I was sad and hated Redclaw not being here, he was the only one who didn't look at me with fear in his eyes. I padded out of the nursery to find it the middle of the night and no one was there, than I saw a cat with stars in its pelt I recognised from somewhere.
"Hello Featherkit, I am Maplefeather your mother," she said her voice distant.
"Why are you not with me and Redclaw?" I asked, she looked at me her expression saddened.
"I died while kitting you, I would be there if I had not lost so much blood," Maplefeather said, I looked at her confused.
"But Redclaw said you just went away and wouldn't come back he never said you joined starclan," I said.
"He did it as to not upset you now the prophecy and your vision have everything to do with each other, they are connected, even your wings have to do with it, now I can only help you understand but I can not tell you what it means," Maplefeather said, I nodded and she continued.
"Your ability to fly will make others fear you, some may try to kill you and the ones you love but I am sure you will save them and the clan no matter the cost, the prophecy leads to the vision but I can not tell you what it means that you must figure out yourself," Maplefeather said.
"I will try ever so hard Maplefeather," I said, I woke in the nursery and went outside. I was six moons old now so I was going to become an apprentice any day now, I went to the fresh kill pile and grabbed a mouse. I lay down outside the nursery and ate it when other cats started to stir, I finished my mouse when Redclaw came up to me.
"So how is my cheeky kit doing?" Redclaw asked amusement in his voice.
"All cats old enough to catch their own prey gather around to hear my words," Thornstar called out, every cat came out of their dens.
"We have a new apprentice with us today, Featherkit from this moment on until you have earned your warrior name you will be known as Featherpaw and your mentor shall be Yellow....." Thornstar said but I inturupted.

"I wish to be a medicine cat apprentice, I have thought about the consequences and accept them," I said, the whole clan looked confused but I didn't care.
"Very well if Watervole accepts you than it shall be so," Thornstar said.
"I accept her as my apprentice plus there will be no kits in moons and I am growing old," Watervole said, I looked at her happily.
"Very well, Watervole shall teach you the ways of our ancestors," Thornstar said, I was happy to finally get what i wanted. I want to help others no matter the costs, I was padding next to Watervole, we got to the medicine cats den.
"There is a gathering of medicine cats tonight, you shall get some rest before we go or you will be far too tired to make the journey, now before you get some rest you must learn your herbs," Watervole said, I nodded in happiness to finally be able to help my clan. My wings ached so I went back outside and spread them, soon i would teach myself to fly.

Guys I am going to put random cures for random plants so no spamming the comments saying I got something wrong.

"This is watermint, we use it for infections," Watervole said pulling out a strange plant, I nodded and she moved onto the next one.
"This is honey it is used for sore throats, this is a cobweb we use them for stopping bleeding, this is marry gold we use it for infections also, this is nettle seeds we use them incase of poison, these are death Barry's never use them on another cat and when you do use them don't lick your paws wash your paws or they will kill you," Watervole said pointing to each herb in turn, we worked on herbs all day and when night came we had to go.

Chapter 9

We were padding through the forest quietly, we got to a meeting place as Watervole called it and sat down to wait a bit, we heard some cats coming so we kept waiting.
"Oh shut your trap!" A cat hissed.
"How about no!" Another spat back, the cats came into view and I realised they were from another clan, I looked at my wings and tried to hide them.
"Venomclaw, Swiftshadow, Blueberry it's great to see you again this is my new apprentice Featherpaw," Watervole said her voice filled with pride, the other cats looked at me than shock came to their faces as they saw my wings.
"Is she even a cat?" Venomclaw asked.
"She is but starclan made her special because her mother is Maplefeather from my clan but her father joined our clan recently he is Redclaw," Watervole said, I looked at the ground as they kept talking about me. We headed down to the pool of water in the mountain, it was dark inside and I didn't like the way it pulled on my wings. We came to the centre of the mountain where a large stone and a pool of water lay. We drank from it then drifted into a sleep, I was in the vision again where what looked like my dad wailing over what looked like me. It suddenly snapped into my head that the cat on the ground was me and the cat wailing over me was Redclaw my father, I woke trembling in fear as the others woke too. They all looked at me and then their faces changed from confused to sadness, I knew they saw it too.
"We are sorry Featherpaw but starclan chooses fate we cannot change it," Watervole said her voice sad, we headed back to camp where I went to my new nest and fell into an I disturbed sleep.
Guys I have given a big hint in this chapter if you don't notice it than..... I don't know something.

I am trying my hardest

Guys I am trying to get these chapters out before next week or I cannot write, next week I am busy almost every day especially with school and things I am not going to go into full detail but let's just say I am getting sicker.

Chapter 10

It had been a few moons and it felt like I would never get my medicine cat name, in a few more days we had to go to a gathering so I did not fret. I padded out of my den when one of my eyes were fuzzy, I thought nothing of it when suddenly I saw Soottail covered in scars but he was walking fine and in my good eye he was normal, this made me very confused so when Watervole woke up I knew I needed a word with her.
"Watervole today one of my eyes are wierd because through it I can see a cat with scars, or missing eyes, or I don't know but I don't like it," I said. Watervole nodded as if understanding when I saw a cat in the shadows through both my eyes.
"What are you looking at?" Watervole asked.
"There is a cat in the shadows over there don't you see it?" I asked, Watervole shook her head so I decided to follow it but I made it look as if I was going for a walk, I got far enough from camp when the cat appeared in front of me.
"Hello Featherpaw, I am Mapleshade your grand mother, your mother was my daughter and I will teach you ways of a good and loyal cat so you don't end up like your mother did," the she-cat said her pelt full of shadows.
"How can you do that I am a medicine cat," I said, Mapleshade gave a thoughtful look.
"I can show you how to use your ability so to make others not fear you," Mapleshade said, I nodded and she smirked.
"You can that would be great every cat stares at me as if I am going to suddenly turn on them," I said.
"Believe me they will worship you," Mapleshade said, I looked up at her and shook my head.
"My father warned me of you, you are evil I will never betray my clan," I said.
"What if I was to tell you that Redclaw isn't your real dad and Greyfang was, your colour came from star clans prophecy not Redclaw, your mother mated with Greyfang on accident but your mother loved Redclaw more so she decided to say you were Redclaws child, she gave into him far too easily so I took her life for LIEING to you, she was an ungreatful she-cat," Mapleshade said, I shook my head in disbelief when my mothers visions and thoughts came to my head and realised Mapleshade was telling the truth. I started to pad back to camp when lightning struck the camp, i raced in to try to help get cats out as the camp started to burn, I was up on top of one of the high ledge helping Thornstar when he bolted down and a branch fell in front of the den entrance, there was no escape for me so I yowled for help when Redclaw came. He tried to save me but the branch was on fire than Greyfang came, he dragged a thick branch with him but stood in the way so I couldn't leave.

"GREYFANG HELP HER!" Redclaw yowled in fear.
"But why should I you stole the she-cat of my dreams from me and she is dead because of you!" Greyfang spat, Redclaw stopped crying.
"Kill her see if I care she isn't my daughter she is yours but oh no your mate lied to every cat and now this is where it got her," Redclaw said his expression not in fear or sadness but anger.
"Featherpaw is my kit than why does she look like you!" Greyfang hissed, I stared on in disbelief.
"Because of the prophecy!" Redclaw spat, he sat there and Greyfang ran off and I rushed past Redclaw. I had to despise of Greyfang before the gathering so that is what I was going to do.

A few days after the fire and the afternoon before the gathering.

Greyfang sat near the lake on the edge of Furyclans border, I neared him with my claws out. I pounced on him and swiftly slit his throat.
"Now you can't tell the clans anything dad," I hissed as his life left his body, I washed my paws and shoved his body into the water so my clan couldn't find my scent on him. I got back to camp as they were about to leave, I tagged along.

At the gathering.

We got to the gathering and the leaders started talking right away.
"Apoloclan is doing fine, prey is plenty full and we have had no problems....." Thornstar said about to hand it over to the next leader when I stood and he stopped.

"I wish to say something," I said.
"And you may," Psychostar said.
"Redclaw isn't my real father and Greyfang is my real father although he is dead I have been told the truth by starclan!" I yowled, the clans looked surprised and Thornstar gave Redclaw an angry look.
"It is true," Redclaw said his voice filled with sadness.

An hour of yelling and arguing later.

The gathering closed when starclan got mad at us, we went back to camp where I payed down in my nest, I fell asleep soon after.

Chapter 11

It had been a moon since I told the truth to all the clans after I murdered my father, I felt no shame only a wish to be normal. I spread my wings and flew up into the night sky, the night was my friend and for some reason I felt energy at night. I flew towards the tunnels at the edge of my clans territory, I landed at the entrance. I had gotten my full medicine cat name as well, my new name was Featherfall. Me and Branchfang had gotten close but I refused to think of us as anywhere near mates so he had given up on me and accepted Soottail, I felt no connection with my clan anymore since both my parents were dead and a fake father who had been exiled for LIEING to Thornstar. Watervole came up behind me and I felt no shame in what I was about to do, Watervole sat a bit behind me.
"You killed him didn't you?" Watervole said.
"I did what had to be done," I said my gaze not meeting hers.
"You can always talk to starclan for forgiveness," Watervole said.
"How could I after I killed inocent cats, I killed them in cold blood," I said, I looked at her and back to the tunnels.
"You know no one has to know," Watervole said.
"Goodbye Watervole," I said, she looked at me and I darted into the tunnels. Rocks fell behind me and one of them hit me, I blacked out.
Guys I am going to now switch between characters ok.

Watervoles pov.
I watched Featherfall my apprentice run into the caves, the rocks fell after her and I tried to dig them out. Thornstar came running and saw me trying to dig the rocks out of the cave, he looked at me and my gaze made his gaze turned to fear.
"She's gone!" I yowled to starclan.
"We can do nothing now if she managed to survive than she will find us," Thornstar said, we went back to camp to tell the news.
"All cats old enough to catch their own prey gather around to hear my words, Featherfall has vanished into the caves and we cannot tell if she is alive or not, if she is keep a sharp eye out to see if she returns we will give her a moon and if she doesn't come we may have to assume the worst," Thornstar said, the clan wailed in pain of loosin Featherfall, she had been a big part of a prophecy so I hoped and prayed to starclan she would still be alive. I went to my nest and pulled a tuft of hair from featherfalls nest so she would always stay with me since she was my first and only apprentice, I lay down in my nest and fell asleep.

Featherfalls pov.

I felt pain shoot through one of my wings and my back leg, I hissed in pain when I heard a cat coming.
"Who is there?" I called.
"I am Shatteredwing I am going to help you if you let me," he said, his gaze was softening and I felt comfort in his gaze. He pushed the rock off my wing and leg, they were broken so he grabbed a stick and some cobwebs from the cave and tied the stick on with the cobwebs, he put a leaf on to stop the stick cutting my wing and leg. He showed me where to sleep, I payed down when he asked.
"Who are you?" He asked.
"I am Featherfall and of course as you can see I have wings," I said, he turned sideways and I saw black wings.
"So do i," Shatteredwing said, I yawned and I fell asleep, he curled up beside me to keep me warm and I didn't mind at all.

Chapter 12

Watervoles pov.
I woke in my den and expected the incident to be a dream but Featherfall's nest was still empty and her scent was stale, I got up and went to the fresh kill pile to eat. The camp had been very quiet since Featherfall's death, she had been missing for two moons so we assumed her dead. I grabbed a mouse and went back inside my den to eat, after I finished I went inside the storage crevasse to check to herb supply, I saw we were almost out of Catmint. I padded out of camp and towards the abandoned Two-Leg place, I saw a small clump near the area Featherfall disappeared into. I bit some off their stems when I heard a cat coming, I saw that it was a rouge cat with a leaf in his jaw. He has strange black wings, he saw me and ran. He bolted into a rabbit hole, I didn't follow him but he was suspicious. I decided to go back to camp when I saw a fox, I hid in a bush hoping the catmint and borage would hide my scent. Sadly it didn't, the leaves blocked my view but I saw red coloured fur, and a tabby fur hiss and spit at the fox. I couldn't tell who they were but as soon as the fox left they ran, I managed to catch the fur but nothing else.

Featherfall's pov.

I woke up when Shatteredwing bolted in from the tunnel, he was panting.
"What's wrong?" I asked.
"A fox is stalking a cat from your clan that you left moons ago," Shatteredwing said, we bolted out of the tunnels to find Watervole in the bush. I bolted in front of the bush and started to hiss, Shatteredwing joined in and soon the fox was gone, we bolted back into the tunnel and back to our nest.
"I know that cat but she can't see me and she has to think we were starclan or we are going to have a problem," I said exhausted from the fox, my leg started to hurt but my wing was fully healed. I layed down to rest it when my stomach started to hurt, I was heavy in kit to Shatteredwing and I knew it was time.

"Shatteredwing my kits are coming," I panted, he grabbed some herbs and a stick. I bit down on the stick while he helped the kits, I was getting tired but I was almost done kitting.
A few minutes of well I don't care but something 🤰.

I was finally done kitting when I heard faint mews, I looked and saw a beautiful tabby Tom with no wings only my eyes and Shatteredwings pelt. He was very cute so while I tried to figure out a name Shatterwing got me some water, I took a sip when an idea hit me.
"How about we call him Shatteredkit and when he is older call him Shatteredfall," I said, Shatteredwing looked at me and smiled.
"A perfect name for our perfect son," Shatteredwing said, we lay there purring when suddenly the cave started to cave-in. I stood over Shatteredkit while dirt and rocks fell on me, I picked Shatteredkit up and we all left the cave. We managed to get out in time as the entire cave collapsed, I put Shatteredkit down for a second to rest. Shatteredwing looked at me with a worried look, I knew we now had nowhere to go and the dirt covering my pelt made my fur a different colour. I cleaned up than cleaned Shatteredkit, we started to pad away when two warriors came at us.
"He you there stop," one of them called, I knew these warriors and when they saw me up close they broke into tears.
"Featherfall your alive!" Soottail yowled in happiness.
"I am alive and this is my mate Shatteredwing, this is my kit Shatteredkit," I said, we padded towards camp when we entered most cats gave me strange looks than bolted towards me. I looked at the medicine cats den when Watervole saw me she ran towards me.

Watervoles pov.

I heard a bunch of noise so I headed out of my den, when I looked at the front of the crowd I broke into tears of joy.
"FEATHERFALL!" I almost yowled in pleasure, I looked at the kit and the cat beside her.
"This is my mate Shatteredwing and this is our kit Shatteredkit," Featherfall said in happiness, Thornstar came out and when he saw Featherfall his eyes were wide in shock.
"F-Featherfall you alive and have a kit!" Thornstar almost yowled, his eyes were starting to get tears when Featherfall looked at me again.

"I know I broke the warrior code but I couldn't leave him after all he had done for me," Featherfall said.
"All that matters is that your safe," I said nuzzling her, I went back to my den and fell asleep that night. Shatteredwing had joined our clan and Featherfall had to sleep in the nursery until her kit was an apprentice, I was happy to have my medicine cat apprentice back safe and sound.

Chapter 13

Featherfall's pov.
I woke in the nursery, my wings were hurting so I knew I needed to stretch them. I looked at Shatteredkit who was playing outside with his father Shatteredwing, although Shatteredkit didn't have any wings he was still just as gifted with something I began to notice. A mark of the moon showed on his pelt every night, when he was still awake at night his eyes glowed with stars in them. I knew he would be part of the prophecy even if he looked like my fake father Redclaw, ever since Redclaw was kicked out of them clan everyone seemed to enjoy the peace. A screech sounded from above, I saw an eagle swooping towards Shatteredkit. I bolted towards Shatteredkit who only just noticed, I pushed him out of the way as sharp talons grabbed my back. I struggled but only to find the talons dug deeper into my back, Shatteredwing flew after us but his wings were not used to flying so it made him slow. Soon the camp was far behind me and if I were lucky I would survive this journey, the eagle flew a few days from camp and I had no idea where I was. The eagle landed on the edge of its nest dropping me in, I rolled and looked at it.
"What do you want from me," I almost sobbed.
"You have disobeyed starclan by getting a mate!" The eagle screeched, the eagle dissapeared and turned into a cat with shadows in her pelt.
"Who are you!" I hissed.
"I am Tigerstar, I need your help destroying the clans, I will visit you tomorrow night in your dreams so be ready," tigerstar said. I woke in the nursery again but it turned out the first time it was a dream, I sighed in relief. I got up and went to the fresh kill pile to get something to eat, I hated being hungry but I knew that I had to be patient with the hunting patrols. Since leaf-bear was coming early prey was scarce, I looked at the sky to see if any clouds had gathered.
"How is Shatteredkit?" Watervole asked.
"He is fine," I said, I was distracted on something but I couldn't tell what. It seemed distant but yet so close, I only realised Watervole had asked me something when she stepped on my tale.

"Ow what was that for!" I hissed.
"You seem distracted, I asked you what you were looking at when you looked towards the lake but you never answered me," Watervole said.
"Sorry I can scenes something is coming but I hate to know what," I said my voice distant and i looked back towards the lake, something told me a terrible battle was coming and in that battle the prophecy would come true.

Chapter 14

Featherfalls pov.
I woke in the nursery glad to be back at camp with my kit Shatterdkit, something about today was off. I got up and went outside where I saw everyone sleeping and no one awake, I walked out into the forest when I heard something go snap.
"It's your fault she is back I thought you said she was dead!" A she-cat hissed from inside a clearing away from camp.
"B-but she went into the tunnels when they collapsed I thought she died!" A Tom spat, I walked out of the bush and they started to hiss.
"Why is it you want me dead?" I asked getting my wings ready to fly.
"So that way I won't be replaced as deputy!" Thisledown spat.
"Who said I was going to replace you and you may want to run or your bodies will be floating in the lake!" I spat, they were confused before I grabbed Thistledown by the scruff and Branchfang around his stomach so I could carry them both, I flew over the lake. I got to the middle of the lake when I dropped them both, I watched with a smile on my face as they drowned. I flew into camp and fell asleep, I woke in the dark forest.
"Welcome Featherfall I am going to teach you how to be one of us and to be ready for the battle we hold against the clans," Mapleshade said, I looked at her slightly confused when I realised what she meant. If I worked with them until the battle I could tell the clans and help them when the time was right, but than again they did nothing but lie to me.
"I accept," I said.
"Come this way," Mapleshade said, she had a big smile on her face. I followed her into a group of cats with shadows in their pelts, some seemed faded while others had none at all. A strange cat sat next to me while Mapleshade addressed the cats, she was confident while the cat next to me have me a sad look.
"You shouldn't be here," he said his voice shaky, he looked back to Mapleshade as she started talking.
"We have new new member with us today, Featherfall is now with us, her ability of flight shall give us the upper advantage as she can attack the clans out of the sky, Hawkclaw you shall train her the ways we live," Mapleshade said looking to the Tom next to me, he nodded and looked at me his gaze not soft anymore but confident. The cats broke apart and Mapleshade came up to us, she gave Hawkclaw a glance and he winced.

"This is your last chance Hawkclaw, you ruin my plans again and you shall never see your kits again," Mapleshade spat, Hawkclaw winced and Mapleshade flicked her tail and we went to a small clearing.
"What was that about?" I asked.
"Mapleshade has power over me since she can kill my kits by either giving them a sickness or just killing them in general," Hawkclaw said his gaze soft as he let his claws slide out, this got me confused.
"Don't we train with claws sheathed?" I asked.
"Not here, here we train as if we are in a battle so let your claws loose and attack me use your signature move," he said, I flew into the air, I looked at him noticing what way he was going to sidestep if I swooped, I swooped but as he sidestepped I swerved and grabbed his scruff than flying into the air again.
"Is that good?" I asked my voice muffled by his scruff, I put him down and his gaze was praising.
"That was perfect, you noticed what way I was going to sidestep and of course it is very hard to step the other way without you noticing," Hawkclaw said, we trained until I was tired, scratched and bruised.
"Is that all for today?" I asked, he nodded and I woke. The scratches and bruises showed through my pelt and I realised that the Dark Forest was very close to real life, I hissed in pain as a thorn got stuck in one of my scratches. I got up and went out of my den to find most the camp was gone, suddenly I realised the clan still hadn't returned from the gathering so I went back to sleep.

I woke to find I had slept in, I saw my kit playing outside. I smiled when a screech rang out over the camp, I saw an eagle swooping at Shatteredkit. I tried to reach him when the eagle pulled up and had him in its talons, I hissed in fury and flew after the eagle when something hit my out of the air. I fell to the ground covered in a web, it didn't feel like a web and was much stronger. I saw two-legs coming towards me, they saw I was a cat and their faces were that of confusion until they saw my wings. I spat in fury at them and they smirked and grabbed me, since I was in the web I couldn't scratch them.
"HELP ME!" I yowled in fear, Shatteredwing came running through the bushes. The eagle was long gone with my kit and now the two-legs were taking me away, I managed to slip out of them web but not unnoticed. The two-legs saw me and I flew, I grabbed my mate on my way and flew high in the air. The clouds hid my coat very well, I soon lost the two-legs and returned to camp. Once I landed, I landed with a thud. My vision was blurry from exhaustion and pain, my kit was probably in starclan by now.
"I am sorry Fallenfeather but maybe it was meant to happen," Thisledown said with a smirk, this made me snap. I lashed at her claws extended and slashed her shoulder, she stepped back in surprise.
"Saw one more word and I will rip out your throat!" I spat, she backed away and bolted into her den. Thornstar looked at me fear in his gaze, I noticed that a dark forest cat was behind me.
"Why hello everyone I have come to how do you say take something," Hawkclaw said looking at me, I knew he wanted to see me but I couldn't follow him in front of my clan. He nodded and dissapeared, the clan looked at me fear in their faces. I ran into the forest and straight to the lake, I saw a tunnel and sat in front of it. Shatteredwing came up behind me his face filled with fear when he saw the tunnel, I looked at the tunnel non the less.
"I can't do this anymore, the dark forest wants me to continue training with them, Thisledown hates me, our kit is dead because of the dark forest and the stupid eagle, I can't handle the pain anymore," I said almost crying, Shatteredwing said nothing.

"Tell them I said goodbye I am leaving to start over you can come if you like," I said, shadows swirled around me and my face filled with terror as I saw Shatteredwing dead, a cat filled with shadows stood there, his face filled with dread.
"Don't leave if you do I shall never see you again," he said, I realised it was Shatteredwing.
"No you were never a real cat all along that's why my kit died, YOU CHEAT I WILL KILL YOU!" I yowled lunging at the once Shatteredwing, he dogged and I landed.
"I may have been a dark forest cat the whole time but I loved you, I loved our kit, I loved the life we had, what type of medicine cat are you if you can't forgive!" He hissed.
"Shut up and never return!" I spat he dissapeared and I went into camp, I went straight to my nest and fell asleep.

Chapter 16

I woke in my nest, memories of last night haunting me. I shook my head, I padded out to find the clan circled around a body. I padded over to see which cat, to my surprise it was the one cat I never thought it would be. My eyes widened at the sight of my kit that had been carried away by the eagle, the scent that was on him was of Shatteredwing. I saw his figure standing at the edge of camp, I nodded and his gaze lit up and he dissapeared.
"I can't believe your kits body is back, after the way the eagle flew away with him it seemed hopeless to find him," Thornstar said, I nodded and sat next to my kits body, so frail and limp there was no chance of returning until his fur started to warm up. I looked in confusion as Shatteredkit started to breathe again, soon he was moving and wailing for milk.
"By the name of starclan how is this possible!?" I gasped grabbing my kit and taking him to my den, he started to drink straight away. My smile was the biggest and a voice very faint but, surely there whispered.
"I told you I loved him and you," the voice said, I knew this voice was Shatteredwing and I smiled bigger. I curled around my kit, his scars were healed, his face had a scratch across it, he looked like he had fallen from a great hight, his brown tabby fur messed up from rain and mud. I licked his fur clean but I knew his scars would stay, after I finished he opened his eyes, they were a deep green.
"Mama where's dad?" Shatteredkit asked, I looked at him.
"Your father is dead my son, he brought you back to life at the cost of his own," I said, Shatteredkit looked at me, his eyes wide with fear and understanding.
"How is he?" Thornstar said padding in.
"He is ok, just a bit shaken, he seems to not remember dieing," I said looking at Thornstar, Thornstar sat down dropping a mouse at my paws.
"Eat, you need your strength," Thornstar said, I nodded and started to eat. I knew there was a prophecy for Shatteredkit, one even starclan knew and feared. I fell asleep and woke in starclan, a black she-cat padded up to me, her star filled pelt shining bright.

"Hello Featherfall," the she-cat said, I knew her but I could name it.
"Hello," I said dipping my head.
"I have a prophecy for you and your kit," she said.
"I knew this was happening," I said, she dipped her head.
"When a cat of shadow and clan rises to a warrior, his fate will destroy the clans unless the queen of him stops him first," the she-cat said.
"I know what I must do but I can't kill my own kit," I said, I sat down and the she-cat nodded.
"I had to do the same thing once, trust me I had to kill in order to save my clan, I was leader but died by a fox a few moons after the death of my two of my kits, they were killed because starclan had sent badgers and foxes to kill them before they could have destroyed the clan," the she-cat said, I saw her pelt change to brown, black and white and recognised her.
"Maplefeather is it you?" I asked looking at her my eyes filled with tears, she nodded and sat next to me.
"Yes it is me my kit," she said looking at me, I saw her eyes were sad. I woke in my nest almost crying, I looked at Shateredkit beside me and fell asleep.

So sorry

Guys I am sorry to say but I am ending this series here, I have no ideas but I will be doing another warrior cats book later ok.

Check out my other series

If you guys want you can check out my other series Warriors A New Life, it's a work in progress but yeah
